

Transcript 1

Question History

Patron: 19:32 2007/01/28 (GMT-5)	[Practice] Chat Transcript: I need some information on alternative fuels.
Librarian 1: 19:32 2007/01/28 (GMT-5)	Note: Patron's screen name: Tom
Librarian 1: 19:32 2007/01/28 (GMT-5)	Librarian 'Andy - Medaille College' has joined the session.
Librarian 1: 19:33 2007/01/28 (GMT-5)	Hello, let me take a look and see what info I can find for you. One moment please.
Librarian 1: 19:34 2007/01/28 (GMT-5)	I just did a google search, and I have found a website that seems to address the topic in depth. I'll send it to you.
Librarian 1: 19:34 2007/01/28 (GMT-5)	http://www.homepower.com/
Patron: 19:35 2007/01/28 (GMT-5)	That looks really good. Do you know if it is peer reviewed?
Librarian 1: 19:35 2007/01/28 (GMT-5)	Oh, do you need articles form a journal?
Patron: 19:36 2007/01/28 (GMT-5)	I think so. My professor said that I should have peer reviewed sources.
Librarian 1: 19:37 2007/01/28 (GMT-5)	Okay, let's look at some of the databases then. Let me see what is available to you.
Librarian 1: 19:39 2007/01/28 (GMT-5)	From the list of your school' databases, It looks like Aademic Seach Elite would be a good choice. Why don't you give that a try?
Patron: 19:39 2007/01/28 (GMT-5)	Is that at my library homepage? or on the web? I've really never used it.
Librarian 1: 19:40 2007/01/28 (GMT-5)	I see, you haven't used the databases before. Let me send you the link.
Librarian 1: 19:41 2007/01/28 (GMT-5)	http://eres.medaille.edu/library/
Librarian 1: 19:43 2007/01/28 (GMT-5)	There is a link to academic search elite right in the middle of your library homepage. You'll need a user name and password to enter. Use your First name, and then a space, and thenyour last name for the username. Your password is your student number. Give it a try.
Patron: 19:44 2007/01/28 (GMT-5)	I'm in. great now what. do I just enter the search like in google?

Librarian 1: 19:45 2007/01/28 (GMT-5)	Yes enter in your search terms and check the box that says "peer reviewed" or "peer refereed"
Patron: 19:46 2007/01/28 (GMT-5)	cool. I have some results.
Patron: 19:46 2007/01/28 (GMT-5)	I'll start looking through these. Thanks
Librarian 1: 19:47 2007/01/28 (GMT-5)	Your welcome, try the service again if you need more help.
Librarian 1: 19:47 2007/01/28 (GMT-5)	Librarian ended chat session.
Librarian 1: 19:47 2007/01/28 (GMT-5)	Note: Set Resolution: Practice